

Interdisciplinary Transportation Group(ITG) Presents*

Speaker Series for Spring 2017

February 24 2017 11:00 AM to 12:00 AM

Location: Torian Auditorium, Howard Jordon Building

Dr. Sunil Chopra, IBM Professor of Operations Management and Information Systems
Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University

Title: A supply chain view of the Omni-channel retailing

Sunil Chopra is the IBM Distinguished Professor of Operations Management. He was also Interim Dean of the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University from 2009-2010. From 2006 – 2009, he served as Senior Associate Dean: Curriculum and Teaching. He became a faculty member of the school in 1989. Previously he was an Assistant Professor at the Stern School of Business Administration at New York University. He has a PhD in Operations Research from SUNY Stony Brook.

Professor Chopra's research and teaching interests are in Operations Management, Logistics and Distribution Management, design of communication networks and design of distribution networks. He has co-authored the books Managing Business Process Flows and Supply Chain Management: Strategy, Planning, and Operation. Both books are published by Prentice Hall and are used at several of the top business schools to teach Operations Management and Supply Chain Management respectively. The Supply Chain Management book was awarded the best book of the year for 2002 by the Institute of Industrial Engineers (IIE).

He has been Departmental Editor for the journals Management Science and an Associate Editor for the Decision Sciences Journal, Manufacturing & Service Operations Management and Operations Research. His recent research has focused on risk management in supply chains. He has also studied distribution systems in a variety of companies trying to identify market, manufacturing, and product characteristics that drive the structure of a supply chain.

Department of Engineering Technology
College of Sciences and Technology

* Funded by National Science Foundation

College of Business Administration
College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences

Interdisciplinary Transportation Group(ITG) Presents* Speaker Series for Spring 2017

Dr. Sunil Chopra, IBM Professor of Operations Management and Information Systems
Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University

Title: A supply chain view of the Omni-channel retailing

Date: February 24 2017

Time: 11:00 AM to 12:00 AM

Location: Torian Auditorium, Howard Jordon Building

Sunil Chopra is the IBM Distinguished Professor of Operations Management. He was also Interim Dean of the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University from 2009-2010. From 2006 – 2009, he served as Senior Associate Dean: Curriculum and Teaching. He became a faculty member of the school in 1989. Previously he was an Assistant Professor at the Stern School of Business Administration at New York University. He has a PhD in Operations Research from SUNY Stony Brook.

Professor Chopra's research and teaching interests are in Operations Management, Logistics and Distribution Management, design of communication networks and design of distribution networks. He has co-authored the books Managing Business Process Flows and Supply Chain Management: Strategy, Planning, and Operation. Both books are published by Prentice Hall and are used at several of the top business schools to teach Operations Management and Supply Chain Management respectively. The Supply Chain Management book was awarded the best book of the year for 2002 by the Institute of Industrial Engineers (IIE).

He has been Departmental Editor for the journals Management Science and an Associate Editor for the Decision Sciences Journal, Manufacturing & Service Operations Management and Operations Research. His recent research has focused on risk management in supply chains. He has also studied distribution systems in a variety of companies trying to identify market, manufacturing, and product characteristics that drive the structure of a supply chain.

Department of Engineering Technology
College of Sciences and Technology
College of Business Administration
College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences

All Students and Faculty from Savannah State University are Invited!

* Funded by National Science Foundation

Contact: Shilpa Prasad – Program Assistant
Email: prasads@savannahstate.edu; Phone: 912-358-3423